

Rev. Dr. Kate McLennan is an interfaith minister, dharma teacher, and an accomplished performing artist. She earned her Doctor of Ministry degree from the University of Creation Spirituality, and was given dharma transmission from Buddhist teacher Robert Beatty in Portland, Oregon. She is a contributor to Originally Blessed, a book commemorating the twenty-five year anniversary of Matthew Fox's Original Blessing. Kate lives in the Texas Hill Country outside of Austin with her beloved partner of twenty-four years, five dogs, and one cat who actually sleeps on a hot tin roof.

For information on her three albums of original music, and one-woman show about her healing journey from leukemia, visit Kate's website at www.katemclennan.com or www.messybuddha.com.

Rev. Dr. Kate McLennan is an interfaith minister, dharma teacher, and a captivating performing artist. Her leukemia survival story was filmed by the Lance Armstrong Foundation's website (www.livestrong.org). Kate lives in the Texas Hill Country outside of Austin with her beloved partner of twenty-four years, five dogs, and one very peeved cat.
